

SARTHAK - Joy of Giving Week!!!

The heart that GIVES, GATHERS!

The Joy of Giving Week is the beginning of a national movement. The first of its kind in India, and for every single Indian. This festival of philanthropy aims at awakening masses and imbibes the emotions of love, compassion, and generosity in them.

Team Sarthak, in all its splendor had celebrated this festival of philanthropy last year in 2015 and was successful in raising funds by organizing various events at different locations in India. Be it be Job Fair in Ludhiana Center wherein, candidates received their offer letters on the very first day of the week or candidates participation in events @ NITTR, Chandigarh; tour of Hotel Lemon Tree Hotel and Holiday Inn was memorable for all; Visit at Select City Walk Mall encouraged the visitors to spare their time and donate to our cause; Miranda House welcomed us with open arms and provided the stage for our candidates to perform to generate awareness about disability; and last but not the least, evening at Team Computers' Head Office- Zorba was the cherry on the cake with which the festival reached to its conclusion.

And this year again, Sarthak is unveiling its participation in the mega fund raising event - The Joy of Giving Week 2016!!!

Its JOY of GIVING after all, a non- stop, full of fun, chain of events where excitement is guaranteed!!!

We welcome the volunteers to come forward and contribute their share of "giving" to Sarthak and help us get closer to our vision.

Put your love in what you give and you'll realize that the greatest joy to feel on this earth comes with GIVING!

So come and donate in whichever way possible and inspire others to give!
Join us in the movement now!
